It is long term

Is there anything important that you think is missing from this draft Strategy?

Yes! For a strategy that is over such a long period of time it does not focus enough on new emerging technologies such as autonomous vehicles. The plan seems to be wait for this technology to arrive. The government should be proactive in funding innovation into the technology to bring this technology to the public as quick as possible. Even bringing this to Australia one year faster would save hundreds of lives.
